FATAL AUTO WRECKS

One Occurs In Virginia, Another In Wisconsin.

FORMER OFFICIAL IS KILLED

Young Lady In Virginia Killed in an Accident Resulting from Miscreants Putting Obstruction in the Public Roadway.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8.—Former Alderman Joseph K. Kuschbert, of Milwaukee, was instantly killed and three others probably fatally injured in an automobile accident at Brookfield Corners, Wednesday, the auto containing the four men going into the ditch. The injured are:

Horace Greeley Sloan, a son of a former Milwaukee judge; "Paddy" Borrell, a fight promoter, and Geo. Foss, a chauffeur.

It is supposed that the steering gear of the auto became jammed, and at a cross road the car left the road and was overturned in the ditch.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 8.—An automobile in which Miss Bushnell, 25 years old, of this place, was returning from Berryville, in company with Mr. Jaconel Hardesty, was wrecked just outside of Berryville Tuesday night, Miss Bushnell being thrown out and her skull fractured. She died soon after the accident.

At one point in the road Mr. Hardesty observed several large obstructions piled in the road, evidently placed there by wreckers.

These, however, were seen by the automobilists, but only a few minutes later the machine dashed up to a large log placed over the entire roadway.

The authorities are making vigorous efforts to capture the miscreants.

STONES RAINED ON AUTOISTS.

Their Machine Killed Boy on New York East Side.

New York, Aug. 8.—A party of visitors touring the city in a sight-seeing automobile were mobbed by a crowd of several hundred persons on Tuesday, when the machine carrying the sightseers accidentally ran over and killed a boy on the East Side.

The sightseers were observing tenement life in the foreign populated district when a little Italian boy, Tony Pasquertti, taking a surreptitious ride on the step of the automobile, fell beneath the wheels and was crushed to death.

A crowd gathered and rained a shower of stones and bottles at the sightseers, who fled from the machine. The crowd then tried to burn the machine, but were prevented by the arrival of police reinforcements.

A BIG LOCOMOTIVE.

Will Haul Train of Cars Mile and a Half Long.

New York, Aug. 7.—The largest steam locomotive in the world is about to be turned out from the plant of the American Locomotive company at Schnectady for the Erie railroad. It will haul on grades a train of loaded cars a mile and a half long without the aid of helpers. Its weight is 413,000 pounds.

The engine is, in reality, two engines under one boiler. It has four cylinders. The engine is designed for pusher service, and will operate on the Susquehanna and Gulf Summit Pass.

Americans Wed in Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 8.—Miss Katherine Eddy, of Chicago, sister of Spencer F. Eddy, of the American embassy here, and Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, were married here Wednesday. Their civil marriage according to German legal requirements took place in the registrar's office at noon, and the religious ceremony, which occurred half an hour later at the American embassy, technically within American jurisdiction, was performed by the Rev. Thomas C. Hall, professor of theology at the Union Theological seminary, former pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Chicago.

BIG SUM TO GET WELL.

What It Cost John D. Rockefeller to Recover His Health.

Cleveland, Aug. 8.—That John D. Rockefeller will live to be more than 94 is the prediction of Dr. H. F. Biggar, his family physician. Dr. Biggar watched Mr. Rockefeller play golf over the Forest Hill links Tuesday, and at the finish declared that the Standard Oil magnate was likely to live more than a quarter of a century longer.

William Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller's father, is still living and is 94. Dr. Biggars said he saw no reason why the master of Forest Hill should not live longer than his father. "Mr. Rockefeller has been born twice physically, and he is only 14 years old now. He is growing up again and growing up scientifically, adding to his muscle, to his lungs, to his heart power with every breath of fresh air he takes on Forest Hill, and with every drive he makes with the golf club.

"Mr. Rockefeller came to Cleveland in 1893 in the middle of the panic period, completely broken in health and spirit. He could eat nothing which would nourish him. His appetite was gone, and his nervous system was a wreck.

"Dr., I'm a sick man. I'm afraid I'm going to die. But it is not on account of the financial situation that I am sick," he said. "It's through disappointment of my friends."

He asked the doctor to help him. After a few days Dr. Biggar went to Mr. Rockefeller with this prescription:

"Drop all business cares; take regular exercises; keep in the open air; forget everything but play, and play as if your life depended upon it."

Mr. Rockefeller carried out the prescription, and dieted religiously.

"A few years afterwards we were talking of his recovery and Mr. Rockefeller said to me: 'Doctor, do you know how much it cost me to get well?' I told him of course I did not. 'Well, doctor,' he said, 'it cost me just $5,000,000. I lost that much by dropping business.'"

SNAKE BITE CURED CANCER.

Case of Port Jarvis, N. Y., Woman Rather Remarkable.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—A special to the Inter-Ocean from Port Jarvis, N. Y., says:

Mrs. Lodwig has suffered from cancer on the left leg just above the knee for a long time.

While out picking huckleberries two weeks ago she was bitten on the ankle by a rattlesnake. Her nephew, Karl Lodwig, came to her assistance and killed three rattlesnakes.

The woman's leg had swelled to an enormous size, but the swelling did not go about the cancer. The cancer, which had adways had the appearance of ink, fringed with red, turned to a running sore. It remained in this condition for four days.

On the fourth day, the discharge stopped and proud flesh began to make its appearance. The snake poison had worked all through the cancer, the swelling disappeared and the heretofore ugly looking cancer began to heal and turned to a healthy flesh color.

Last Thursday the wound began to heal, and Tuesday Mrs. Lodwig was in town almost cured.

To Winter on Eagle Island.

Portland, Me., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Robert E. Peary, wife of the polar explorer, has announced her intention of remaining all winter at Eagle Island, their summer home and foregoing all social engagements. Eagle Island is a bleak, rocky bit of land, in Casco bay, and 4 miles out to sea. Mrs. Peary's two children—Marie, aged 11, and Robert, Jr., aged 5—will remain with her. The only other inhabitants of the island will be Antonio Gomez, a Spanish servant, and his family.

Continue Four-Year Sessions.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8.—The house has killed the bill providing for changing the sessions of the legislature from every four years to every two.

SOUTHERN R. R. CASE

No Intention to Defy Alabama Law, It Is Claimed.

STATEMENT FROM OFFICIALS

Vice President Russell of the Mobile and Ohio, and Division Counsel Weatherly Speak of the Late Alabama Affair.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8.—That it was not the intention of the officers of the Southern railway to defy the Alabama law, is conveyed by statements made by Vice President E. L. Russell, of the Mobile & Ohio, representing President Finley, of the Southern, and James Weatherly, of Birmingham, division counsel of the Southern railway at Birmingham.

Both declare that the removal of the case from the state to the federal court was in regular order of business and Mr. Weatherly takes the position that it was not so removed in time to come under the provisions of the new law.

The Talladega case was pending when the act became a law. Mr. Weatherly says:

"Cases pending at the time of the passage of the act or at the time it went into effect are not within the terms of the act.

"This case was not removed with any idea of making a test case or of defying the state authorities.

"My own judgment is that Secretary Julian simply made a mistake, without intending to do so and that there has been no cause whatever for a revocation of this license."

"The impression that has gone abroad that the removal of that case was a challenge to the state officials and in defiance of the law of Alabama is a mistake," said Colonel E. L. Russell. Colonel Russell is in conference with Governor Comer again and there is encouragement to believe that something may come of the meeting. Railway officials discuss the finding of an indictment at Marion, Ala., with concern, fearing that it may cause complications.

The Southern was indicted there for violating the act in doing business without a license and Solicitor Thompson gave it out that the case was to be pushed. However, if the argument that the Talladega case was transferred really before the law became effective can be fixed, the whole matter will be arranged.

GHASTLY TRAGEDY.

Body of Woman Cut to Pieces and Put in Trunk.

Marseilles, France, Aug. 8.—A trunk belonging to a man and woman who arrived here Tuesday from Monte Carlo attracted the attention of the baggagemaster, who caused it to be opened. It was found to contain the body of a woman, cut to pieces. The man and woman owning the trunk were arrested. They had asked that it be forwarded to London. The couple, who are middle-aged and gave the names of Mr. and Mrs. Gold, residents of Monte Carlo, denied that they committed the crime, and informed the examining magistrate that they knew the victim only slightly.

While the latter was at their home, the Villa Menesimy, on Sunday last, Mr. and Mrs. Gold added, the woman's lover arrived there and blew out her brains. The Golds, fearing they would be compromised, tried to get rid of the corpse. The head and feet were in the [illegible] valise and the rest of the body was in the trunk.

The autopsy seems to upset the story told by the Golds. It was shown that the murdered woman was seized from behind and held while she was stabbed to death.

A commission has been sent to the city of Monte Carlo to investigate the crime.

Cat's Bite Causes Rabies.

Waco, Tex., Aug. [illegible] fering terrible agonies for three days, Ruby Morgan, the 5-year-old daughter of W. R. Morgan, is dead from hydrophobia. The child was bitten last week on the toe by a cat.

ALABAMA LEGISLATURE.

Senate Passes Bill For New Counties. Other Bills Passed.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8—The senate passed the bill for an amendment to the constitution out of which new counties may be organized. This had been introduced and passed in the house in the interest of Bessemer, which hopes to secure a new county by taking most of Jefferson.

Other bills passed in the house are as follows:

Provide clerk for jail inspector; increase powers of the railroad commission, to establish a sanitarium for consumptives; to establish monuments on battlefields; to provide regulation of automobiles on public roads; machines must come to a full stop when frightened teams are met. The senate passed three of these bills: To provide for restricting and licensing carrying of arms; taxing dogs $3 for females and $5 for males. However, the house killed the bill when it was returned. To prevent display of nude pictures other than in art galleries; to prohibit breaking of contracts by tenants.

INCREASE IN TAX VALUES.

Georgia Counties Show Net Increase Atlanta, Aug. 8—Ninety-four counin Returns of $13,360,620.

ties whose tax digests have been received at the office of the comptroller general show total net gains over their tax returns for last year of $18,360,620.

Eighty counties show total gain of $17,516,665, while eleven counties show losses aggregating $718,045, making the net gains for 92 counties $16,798,620, to which has been added the big gain shown in Bibb county of $1,562,000, bringing the total up to the figures above stated.

More than one-third of the counties of the state are yet to be heard from, and there is hardly any doubt about the fact that the total gains shown when all are in will run to $30,000,000. With a like amount of increase from corporations the grand total would be $60,000,000.

Gave His Life for His Friend.

Atlantic City, N. J. Aug. 8—Rev. Edward McConnell, of Absecon, N. J., and Claude Friendship, a real estate agent, of Philadelphia, were drowned Tuesday near Brigantine. The two men were out in a small sail boat in company with two other men, and the boom swung round and hit Mr. Friendship on the head. Mr. Friendship did not know how to swim and Rev. McConnell, who could swim leaped after the sinking man. Friendship grabbed him about the neck, and both sank from view. They never came up. The others in the boat grappled for the bodies without success.

Dirt Is Broken for New Plant.

Americus, Ga., Aug. 8—Dirst was broken Tuesday for a mammoth electric plant to be instaned in Americus by a company capitalized at a quarter of a million dollars. The surety bonds of $25,000 required of the company by the city were forthcoming, and active operations in construction will commence immediately. The company will construct and operate for twenty years under contract for which bond is given, an electric street railway system, and likewise furnish the city water and lights for a like period. William A. Dodson, of Americus, successfully put through the plans which secured the splendid enterprise for Americus.

Collision on Southern.

Washington, Aug. 8.—A dispatch to the Southern railway offices here announced that in a collision of an eastbound local passenger train and a westbound freight, one mile east of Auburn, N. C., Tuesday night, the engineer and [illegible] of the freight and the fireman of the passenger train were killed. While a number of the passengers were shaken up none of them sustained serious injury.

Carnegie Gives to Hospital.

London, Aug. 8—Andrew Carnegie has deposited in the Bank of England $500,000 as a contribution to the King Edward hospital fund. Mr. Carnegie expressed the desire that the fund be spent as seems best, adding that the more strenuously it is used for reform, the better for all concerned.

MAY CAUSE CONTEST

Senatorial Race In Mississippi Is Hard to Decide.

SECOND PRIMARY PROBABLE

Small Plurality Is Ground for Action. Second Primary Is Regarded with Favor by the Followers of Both Candidates.

New Orleans, Aug. 8.—Dispatches from Jackson, Miss., say that a second senatorial primary for John S. Williams and Governor J. V. Vardaman is regarded with favor by many followers of both. Secretary of State Power up to Tuesday night still had ten counties to hear the official returns from and the count up to that point showed Mr. Williams lead to be but about 440 votes.

The smallness of the plurality which it is now estimated the winner will have, is given as ground for the belief that a contest over the election is inevitable.

The ballot boxes are being watched by workers on both sides.

The fact that a second primary must be held to select the candidate for governor has cleared the way for the advocacy of another vote for senator.

BOLD HOLD UP.

But Mayor's Gold Star Caused Highwaymen to Flee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8.—A bold attempt was made Tuesday night on the White Fish Bay road to hold up Mayor Sherburne M. Becker.

The mayor and his chauffeur were speeding along intent only on reaching the club, where the mayor had an engagement. Suddenly a short distance ahead a light was swung back and forth across the road.

The mayor, who was driver, shut off the power and put on the brakes, thinking that some accident had happened or there was a break in the road. When he had brought the auto to a halt and was ready to jump out to see what was the matter he found himself looking into the muzzle of a revolver. A voice from the darkness said:

"Now then, turn over whatever you have with you and do it quick."

Mayor Becker though startled at the sudden demand, reached up and pulled back his coat showing his star, and saying:

"This is all I have with me just now."

The highwaymen glanced at the gold star and evidently thinking they had held up a police official, shut off their light and made a jump for the fence on the side of the road, disappearing quickly. Detectives were sent out at once but no trace of the hold up men have been found.

GETS LONG TERM.

Alabama Legislature Elects Johnston for United States Senator.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8.—In joint session Wednesday the Alabama legislature elected Joseph F. Johnston, of Selma, lawyer, Birmingham banker and former governor, to the upper house of the national congress for a term ending March 4, 1915, possibly the longest service any state has yet chosen a man for in that body. He succeeds the late Senator Pettus, and was nominated in a general primary and the Democratic caucus, having no opposition in the latter. He will serve with John H. Bankhead, also elected at this session to succeed the late Senator Morgan.

The unique situation is presented of two new men following senators who were re-elected and died within a month of each other, and all four of them nominated by the people for the honors to which they were chosen.

Twenty Deaths in Train Wreck.

Berlin, Aug. 8.—A passenger train was derailed Tuesday night between Posen and Thorn. The two engines were overturned and three cars demolished. The minister of railways announced that up to noon Wednesday the bodies of 20 persons had been recovered from the wreck.

MILLS OF JUSTICE WERE VERY ACTIVE

Justice Tolman's Court Scene of Busy Day Thursday.

JOCK HUGHES IN THE TOILS.

Was Arraigned on Two Charges, Committed in One and Sentenced in the Other—Fate of Two Men Arraigned for Vagrancy.

Thursday was one of the busiest days in Justice Colman's court for some time, several offenders of the law having been arraigned for trial.

John Hughes, a well-known negro character about the city, was in double trouble, having been arraigned on the charge of breaking and entering and carrying concealed weapons. In the first instance he was committed to jail in default of bond of $250, and in the second case a fine of three or three months in jail was imposed. Being unable to raise the necessary "dough," Hughes will languish for the next ninety days.

This is regarded as not unusual punishment, it will be remembered that Hughes shot while a prisoner in the county jail, he burned, shooting and escaped. He was captured in the city jail here, when he made the latter attempt, but for which he is regarded as a bad [illegible]," and the officers say [illegible].

Vagrancy Cases.

Two men, Will Howe were arrested Wednesday night in the vicinity of the Atlantic Coast Line depot for vagrancy. Howe was fined $50 and given thirty days, but upon the showing of Howe that he was in destitute circumstances at present was not able to pay the fine, he was discharged from custody of the court.

Howe was charged with trespass upon the property of William Irvine, [illegible] of his attorney, Evans [illegible] a defender of the case [illegible] of County Judge Mason.

A NARROW CALL.

Train Passed Directly Underneath Overturned A. C. L. Train.

WALDO'S GRIP WAS GOOD.

Clung to Overturned Canoe Until Rescued by Fishermen.

Fairfield, Me., Aug. 8.—In clinging to the bottom of an upturned canoe on North Pond Tuesday, Congressman George B. Waldo, of the city of Brooklyn, N. Y., held his grip for seventy-five minutes until a party of Waterville fishermen, after a run of a mile and a half in a motor boat, rescued him.

Mr. Waldo started in the morning in his canoe. He had paddled two miles, looking for a place to fish, when the wind came up from the southwest, making a choppy sea. In trying to change his seat in the canoe, he upset the craft.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

Atlanta, Aug. 8.—Six solid hours spent in talk on the subject of anti-pass bills marked the net results of the house Tuesday, when not a thing was accomplished or a vote recorded. It was the dullest and driest session of the summer.

It was decided by the appropriation committee to recommend for passage the general appropriation bill, amounting to $4,465,000, for the year 1908; $4,615,000 for the year 1909; and the general deficiency bill of $90,000. The committee did not deem it advisable to recommend for passage any of the special bills introduced in the legislature this season which require additional appropriation.

The general judiciary committee of the senate held an important session and after discussing for over three hours the railroad bond bill introduced by Senators Overstreet and Borne, a motion was adopted to lay the bill on the table for the remainder of the session, hence no action in reference to the income bondholders of the Central of Georgia Railway company will be taken by the present session of the general assembly.

The bill of Senator J. L. Weaver prohibiting unfair commercial discrimination between different sections by large corporations was reported back to the senate with the recommendation that it "do pass."

This bill, if enacted into a law, will prevent the Standard Oil company from selling oil in one locality at a cheaper price than in a different locality, thus prohibiting their alleged habit of crushing out smaller competitive companies.

With the avowed object of protecting the Western and Atlantic railroad, the state's property running from Atlanta to Chattanooga, from being paralleled by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which controls the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, by which the state road is now leased, a bill was introduced in the senate Tuesday by Senators Borne and Overstreet giving the railroad commission the right to pass on charters and amendments to charters which grant the right of eminent domain.

Children in Pain

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all babies who cry and are treated for sickness, when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial. INDUCEMENT TO WED.

Colon Government Offers Home to Every Married Couple.

New York, Aug. 8.—According to passengers who arrived here on the steamer Colon from Colon there is an influx of brides to the canal zones, and all because the government there has offered a separate home for every married couple.

Edwin H. Weeks, who with his wife has been for several weeks on the isthmus entertaining the canal workers with impersonations, a part of the plan for free amusement adopted by the government, says there are not enough carpenters to build the houses needed to comply with the new order. All along the canal workings they are scattered and are hard at work in the struggle to keep up with the weekly arrival of wives.

Limited Command.

John Puryear of Richmond was one of Mosby's men in the eventful days when the woods and hills of northern Virginia made the picturesque background for some of the hottest encounters of the civil war. Puryear was a mere stripling when the war began and put on his first long trousers as a wearer of the Confederate gray. Nevertheless, he fought like a veteran. He lacked a veteran's balance, for, although fearless, he had not the slightest judgment, a fact which, says Mr. Munson, the author of "Mosby's Men," Mosby once recognized with considerable humor. All that Puryear knew about war was what he gathered in each mad rush through the ranks of the enemy, with his long black hair flying in the wind and his revolver hot with action. He rode like a centaur, and no enemy ever existed that he would not engage, hand to hand, hip and thigh. After one of the most daring rushes Mosby said to him:

"Puryear, I am going to make you a lieutenant for gallantry."

Puryear swept his plumed hat in a bow that was royal in its grace.

"But," continued Colonel Mosby, "I don't want you ever to command any of my men!"

Shark Worship in Hawaii.

The shark has been perhaps the most universally worshiped of all the Hawaiian animal gods. Strange as it may seem, the islanders formerly regarded the shark as being the friend and protector of all those who pay him devout attention. Each locality along the coast of the main islands of the Hawaiian group formerly had its patron shark, whose name, place of abode, history, etc., were all well known to his superstitious worshipers. The biggest and most celebrated of these shark divinities was a male, whose mouth was so large that he could easily swallow any other shark known to frequent those waters. According to the Hawaiian folklore stories, the bulk of this "god of the sea" was so great that he could not pass through the narrowest channels which separate the different islands, but spent his time swimming around the whole group and looking after the welfare of the people.

The Pelican and Its Pouch.

Among the curiosities of nature must be reckoned the pouch of the pelican, which serves equally well as a net with which to scoop up fish and as a bag to convey food to its young. When not in use the bird can contract its pouch so that it is barely discernible, but when it is fully distended it will hold two gallons of water. When the pelican is hunting for food it flies slowly about twenty feet above the surface of the water, scanning its depths for any sign of its prey. As soon as a fish is seen there is a sudden folding of a pair of wings, a downward plunge with the speed of an arrow head first into the sea, the unerring marksman reappearing in a moment and floating on the waves long enough to reveal a glimpse of a fish gliding down its capacious gullet and to shake the water from its disheveled plumage.

Men and Their Autographs.

An experienced autograph collector can almost tell to what profession a man belongs by the grudgingness or otherwise of his response. Actors and vocalists never demur. They rather seem to like it. Poets and authors of fiction accede, but with a certain cold dignity; metaphysicians and philosophers either refuse altogether or comply with a bad grace; dramatists not only send their autographs, but a quotation from their works as well; peers sign, but with a stiff and formal hauteur; judges and barristers sign in such a way that it is not possible to squeeze an I. O. U. over the name. In fact, every class has—of course, with exceptions—its own way of dealing with the importunity of the autograph fiend.—H. I. Jennings in Connoisseur.

NORMAL STUDENTS PASS RESOLUTIONS

They Feel Very Grateful and Compliment School Highly.

COMPLIMENT PROF. HOLLOWAY

Also County Superintendent Dr. Kelley, School Board, Board of Trustees, Societies and Citizens for Many Courtesies Shown.

The following resolutions, introduced by Mr. Burns, were unanimously adopted at the chapel exercises of the Summer Training School Thursday morning:

"Whereas, we, the teachers of Florida in attendance upon the Summer Training School at Gainesville, feel that we have been greatly benefited, and that our time here has not only been most profitably but also most pleasantly employed, and that we owe it to ourselves as well as to those who have made possible and who have contributed to this profit and pleasure, to express our appreciation of the same; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we heartily commend the State Legislature for its liberal policy toward the public schools, and particularly for its wisdom and foresight in providing so generously for summer training schools for the professional improvement of teachers; that we feel especially grateful to those two staunch friends of Florida's teachers, Senator Frank Adams of Hamilton and Representative Harvell of Santa Rosa county, for their efforts in securing the liberal appropriation for summer schools that made possible the great opportunities for improvement we have enjoyed this summer, and for which we are so profoundly grateful. Be it

"Resolved, also, That we extend our thanks to State Superintendent Holloway for his earnest and successful efforts in behalf of the professional improvement [illegible] the teachers [illegible] for the interests [illegible] uniformfests in their w[illegible]at [illegible] fully endorse his administration of the public school affairs of the state, which has been progressive without being revolutionary and forceful without being noisy; and that we pledge him our cordial support in all his efforts to build up the schools and advance the standard of qualification for teaching. Be it further

"Resolved, That we extend our thanks

"1. To County Superintendent Kelley, the School Board of Alachua county, the Board of Trustees of the Gainesville District, for numerous favors and courtesies, all of which were greatly appreciated

"2. To the kind and hospitable people of Gainesville who have, by their open-hearted interest in our welfare and happiness, and by their friendly attention, contributed so much to the pleasure of our all too brief stay in their beautiful and charming little city.

"3. To The Gainesville Sun and The Elevator for appreciated courtesies in the way of publishing announcements, programs, etc.

"4. To Dr. Sledd of the State University for use of apparatus in the science department.

"5. To the Gainesville Gas and Electric Light Company for light furnished for Society meetings.

"6. To the Baptist Young People's Union for their reception given soon after the opening of the term at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rivers.

"7. To the Epworth League for their delightful reception tendered the school at the home of Captain and Mrs. Tom F. McBeath.

"8. To our beloved Principal, Dr. W. F. Yocum, and his splendid faculty, consisting of Capt. George M. Lynch, Capt. Tom F. McBeath, Dr. Walter E. Knibloe, Dr. W. H. Russell, Prin. J. H. Workman, Rev. P. W. Corr and Mrs. Ella Hamilton, for their valuable instruction, their kindness, their cheerful patience and their painstaking efforts to make our time not only profitable but pleasant to us. We shall hold them in grateful remembrance; for we cannot but feel that we will all our lives be the better, stronger and happier for these two months of association with them. Be it

"Resolved, lastly, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished The Gainesville Sun, The Gainesville Elevator, The Times-Union and The Florida School Exponent, with request to publish."

WOULD HAVE DIED BUT FOR CUTICURA

FIVE PERFECT CURES BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Cuticura Remedies saved my two children. My little girl's face was so covered with sores that she could not see and I thought at one time that her eyesight was gone for good. After two doctors had failed to do her any good a friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I did so and in two or three days we could see a great change and in four weeks she was well and her face was smooth and had cured nicely. She had been sore for three months so that she could not rest night or day. My little boy was sore all over. His head was a solid scab. First we tried a doctor who did him no good, but the first time I bathed my son's head with Cuticura Soap and put Cuticura Ointment on it he rested better at night and the next morning his head was much better. In five weeks he was well. I cannot say enough for the Cuticura Remedies for if I had not used them my baby would have died. My little sister, Nora S——, had a terribly sore face. I told my mother of the Cuticura Remedies. She used them and the child's face soon got well after the best doctors had failed. Pearl B—— used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills for sores on her body and face, and little Pinkey S—— had a sore head. Her mother used Cuticura Soap and Ointment on it and she was soon well. Mrs. Mary Hicks, Sutherland, Dinwiddie Co., Va., Apr. 15, 1907."

ECZEMA ON FACE

Cured by the Cuticura Remedies

"I had eczema in very bad form all over my face for the past four months. Physicians in several towns prescribed for it without giving me any results, but four weeks ago I commenced using the Cuticura Remedies, consisting of one cake of Cuticura Soap, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and to-day I am perfectly well. Nettie Helgeson, Ridgeway, Iowa, Mar. 4, 1907."

Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 50c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood, are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

COUNTY WILL HAVE A SUMMER SCHOOL

This Was the Order Passed by School Board Tuesday.

WILL BE PERMANENT SCHOOL

First Session Will Open August 19 and Continue to September 2, and Annually in May Afterwards—Admirable Step on Part of Board.

One of the important transactions of the School Board at its meeting Tuesday was an order passed establishing a permanent county normal.

This school will be conducted under the supervision of County Superintendent Dr. J. L. Kelley, and, with the exception of the present year, will be held in May, annually. The term this year will open on the 19th inst. closing September 2.

The examinations will immediately follow, beginning on September 3, and continuing four days.

Prof. W. H. Cassels, formerly a member of the faculty of East Florida Seminary, but now principal of the Alachua school, has been tendered the position of principal of the county normal, and Dr. Kelley Thursday received a wire of acceptance. Prof. Cassels is not only a fine educator, but is one of the most popular teachers in the county, and his appointment will meet universal approval.

Dr. Kelley requests The Sun to announce that all students to the normal will be required to bring paper, pen and ink, and one dollar, the latter being the entrance fee.

The School Board does not wish to be understood by the establishing of this county normal that they disapprove the State Normal. It is just the reverse, because the board heartily endorses the State Normal, and appreciates the great work it is doing; but this county normal is intended to give additional help to the teachers and those who apply for certificates in Alachua county.

Tax Sales Completed.

After a strenuous task lasting for three days, County Tax Collector Dickinson has completed the sale of lands for delinquent taxes.

Captain Dickinson states that the list this year was considerably more lengthy than that of last year—in fact, it was one of the largest the county has had since he has been in office.

"I am very much gratified at the success of the sale, however," remarked the Collector. "At least three-fourths of the items were bought in by individuals, which I consider a good record."

Beautiful Women.

Plump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health and a pure complexion, make all women beautiful. Take a small dose of Herbine after each meal; it will prevent constipation and help digest what you have eaten. Mrs. Wm. M. Stroud, Midlothian, Tex., writes, May 31, 1901: "We have used Herbine in our family for eight years, and found it the best medicine we ever used for constipation, bilious fever and malaria." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Maintain Equilibrium.

Honolulu, Aug. 8.—Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus, in addressing a deputation of Japanese journalists, said that ideal conditions in Hawaii would be brought out by not too great a preponderance of any one race, but by the maintenance of an equilibrium of the races. The Japanese consul will give a dinner in honor of Mr. Strauss and Congressman Longworth and wife.

Off for Seabreeze in An Auto.

Mr. C. E. Melton of Micanopy, who has recently bought the McEachern sawmill at the Meadows, and will soon become a citizen of Marion county, passed through Ocala yesterday on his way to Seabreeze in a 30-horse power Cadillac, and will be accompanied from Ocala by Mr. Clarence Meffert. As the crow flies, Seabreeze is nearly directly east of Ocala, and is not but little more than sixty-five miles. These young men do not expect to be many hours in making the trip.—Ocala Banner, 8th.

[illegible]'S PUNISHMENT.

[illegible] to the fine of $29,240,000 [illegible] against the Standard Oil [illegible] of Indiana by Judge Landis [illegible] United States Circuit Court of [illegible], The Wall Street Journal, the conservative financial paper in [illegible] (and which, by the way, [illegible] endorsed by W. J. Bryan)

"The Standard Oil Co. has been convicted and fined for violation [illegible] law. The conviction [illegible] severe blow to the capitalization of the Standard Oil [illegible], after years of accusation [illegible] corporation stands before [illegible] of the world in a criminal [illegible]. They claim, of course, [illegible] Landis' decision is unjust, [illegible] announced they will appeal [illegible] courts. The American [illegible] the Standard Oil statement [illegible] after the decision had [illegible] has the capacity to [illegible] with a defendant, rich or [illegible] received a square deal.' To [illegible] terms of fair play the [illegible] Oil directors now appeal.

"[illegible] can bide its time. [illegible] Oil Co. has steadfastly [illegible] many years to take [illegible] to inform or satisfy public [illegible] what it was doing. It now [illegible] the favor of public favor is [illegible]. Its methods of commerce [illegible] so relentlessly carried [illegible] through so many years [illegible] people are not willing to give [illegible] for its real achievements for [illegible] credit, and are only regardful [illegible] violation of law, its persecution [illegible], its compelling the [illegible] to give it favors withheld [illegible] shippers and its corruption [illegible].

"The methods of the Standard Oil [illegible] been the methods of commerce [illegible]. It has had the strength of a giant, and it has used its strength like a giant without regard to the [illegible] of its competitors.

"That the Standard Oil Co. has achieved some things which are worthy of the consideration of the nation, and any fair judgment would put those things which favor the Standard in the scales as at least some compensation for the evils which its system of business has entailed.

"For instance the Standard Oil Co. [illegible] has enabled the company in competition with powerful combinations abroad to extend the commerce of the United States around the globe. A traveler from Tunis recently said that while in that place he had seen a large caravan crossing the desert, each camel laden heavily with the Standard Oil Co.'s petroleum products. What other American manufacturer is sending caravans across the desert out of Tunis? In the last [illegible] years the exports of petroleum from the United States have amounted to over $2,000,000,000. The great bulk of these exports were made by the Standard Oil Co. This sum is so enormous that it amounts to twice the sum of the net imports of gold in the last ten years. In other words, owing to the high efficiency of the Standard Oil and its methods in marketing its products in foreign lands, this company has exported enough of this single product to account of more than all of excess imports of gold [illegible] exports in the past ten years. [illegible] is something to be said on the side of the Standard Oil Co. H. H. Rogers some time ago, in conversation with a friend, declared that the Standard has been responsible for $1,000,000,000 of American exports, and that if any citizens of a foreign country had by their enterprise sold $1,000,000,000 of the products of that country abroad they would have been loaded with honors, and monuments would have been raised in their praise.

"There is another thing to be said in behalf of the Standard Oil Co. Although it has disbursed in the last twenty-five years dividends averaging over 24 per cent. a year, yet in this era of vast capitalizations the Standard Oil Co. has made no attempt to conceal its great profits. It has indeed made no statements of earnings, but it has at least kept its capitalization so low that the profits of its business were clearly disclosed in the great dividends declared upon the stock. This is something to be said in favor of the Standard, for it is in marked contrast with the policy employed by many of the other great corporations.

"Now, all this does not excuse the methods of competition employed by the Standard Oil Co. in building up its tremendous monopoly. The administration has displayed great courage in exposing these methods, notwithstanding the fact that in doing so it incurs the enmity of one of the most powerful groups of financiers in the country. At the same time it gains the applause of business interests which have too long borne the burden of Standard Oil injustice.

"Nevertheless, in dealing with the Standard Oil Co. it is highly important that we should deal with it fairly and with all sides in view.

"The fact is that the Government in its dealings with the Standard Oil Co. in the courts as well as in its investigations of its business should be more judicial and less partisan than has been the case. Two wrongs do not make one right, and because the Standard Oil Co. has been guilty of unfair methods of competition that is no reason why the Government should not give full credit where it is due. On the contrary, it would strengthen its own case against the Standard Oil Co. if it gave due prominence to those achievements which stand to the credit of this great monopoly.

"In imposing a fine of $29,240,000 upon the Standard Oil Co. Judge Landis has gone so far in severe punishment to the Standard Oil as at last to awaken possibly some sympathy with that corporation in the minds of the people. Such a fine is really confiscatory in its amount and it will doubtless enable the Standard Oil to present a better case on appeal to the higher courts than it would possess upon the merits of the facts that were in controversy."

The "Roll of Honor," as the pension roll is proudly referred to by the old Confederates, is rapidly increasing in numbers in every county of the State. The number of applications approved by the County Commissioners of Escambia county since the new law went into effect is 109. In some other counties this number is more than doubled.

The prohibitionists have carried the fight into Escambia county. The County Prohibition League, which was organized by the Revs. Culpepper during the recent revival, has a large membership of enthusiastic workers and an effort will be made to vote the county "dry."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Some have objected to national forests on the ground that they interfere with "the development and acquirement of title." This objection seems to rest on the assumption that all the land in America must be privately owned, and operated for private profit. A queer situation we should find ourselves in, truly, if this theory were consistently acted upon. All school lands would be converted into privately owned lands; our streets, highways, public parks, public gardens, national cemeteries, experiment stations, farms and gardens, sites of public buildings and all other public lands would be converted into private property. Government, in all its aspects, would exist simply as a renter, or go out of business. Fortunately, the American people are too sane to consider seriously such a theory. The Chicago man who recently proposed to run the national postoffice as a private venture was smiled at and forgotten. The point to be remembered is, that while private enterprise and ownership have their place, public enterprise and ownership have theirs also. The "development, and acquirement of title," in public property by private individuals is not a matter over which the public will grow enthusiastic.

Says The Ocala Banner: "While out strolling the other evening a citizen passed a house from which emanated the strains of music from a piano and the throat of a charming young lady. The only words he caught from the song were something about 'dear mother.' Passing on and turning down a side street he saw through a kitchen window the dear mother with her arms buried to the elbows in a pan of dough and the sweat streaming down her wrinkled face. She was singing, 'We'll Work Till Jesus Comes.'"

Some men get fanaticism and faithfulness all mixed up.

PILES

"I have suffered with piles for thirty-six years. One year ago last April I began taking Cascarets for constipation. In the course of a week I noticed the piles began to disappear and at the end of six weeks they did not trouble me at all. Cascarets have done wonders for me. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man." George Kryder, Napoleon, O.

SERMONETTES

BY J. MARVIN NICHOLS.

It is possible for an ass to run a horseless carriage.

Some poor fellows are cursed by sins they never committed.

To give the man the benefit of the doubt is in itself an accusation.

Because a fellow chances to be a black sheep is no sign the others are not goats.

I haven't got much faith in a conscience that keeps the price of a sin down in its jeans.

The patriotism of the big majority consists in keeping their ear to the ground listening for the political call.

The truth that some men's thought is as quick as lightning explains the fact that you can't make a note of them.

The tortoise and the hare still run the race. The persistent mediocre accomplishes more than the dashing talent.

Like all the billionaires that began on ten dollars a month, the best boy that ever lived died early. What a pity!

Jack London says there are just two kinds of men: The wonderers and the doers; the feelers and the thinkers; the emotionals and the intellectuals.

A man may be convicted, but the justice of it is as lucid as mud if his jury be composed of whiskered, bankrupt saints and the galoots that owe the "accused brother" himself. It is a mighty easy thing to make up a verdict. The truth is, the majority can't do anything else.

The human heart knows no diviner reach than the instinctive capacity to relinquish an object of greatest love, if by that relinquishment some other dear heart would find a deeper joy or come to more perfect peace. It has always been and will always be the solitary mark of a great soul.

So many people, like the birds of grey in Longfellow's Hiawatha, bring the poet's words to me over and over again:

Never stoops the soaring vulture,
On his quarry in the desert,
On the sick and wounded bison,
But another vulture watching
From his aerial lookout,
Sees the downward plunge and follows,
And a third pursues the second,
Coming from the invisible ether,
First a speck and then a vulture,
Till the air is dark with pinions.

I'll tell you who is to blame for the innumerable pitfalls wherein the human family tumbles and flounders: it is the fathers and mothers of this land, who for profit, will erect, by their own hands, monuments of vice and tint their peaks with magnificent colors that it makes it easier to do wrong than to do right. There has never been a child born but what it was the counter-part of its God. It is as pure at its birth as God himself and would have remained such had not the human devils of this land wooed it from the path of rectitude and offered it more to do wrong than to do right. I do not believe that your children and mine were born in sin. I have too much respect for the God of the universe to believe that he deliberately would permit me to beget children and bring them into this world cursed by a sin they never committed.

One of my old magazines declares that for gold, or that which it represents, some public officials will do things that rob them of the confidence of their fellow-men. For the sake of gaining a little brief power some men with political ambitions will betray those who have trusted them. And what is the gain, even from a temporal standpoint? The man who will buy power or wealth, or the good-will of some powerful individuals, at the cost of his own self respect—let alone the reputed cost of the soul—pays dearly for his acquisition, even though he acquired the power of a Harriman or the wealth of a Rockefeller. There is something more in life than the mere acquisition of wealth and power. There is vastly more in the sojourn here than the mere effort to build gigantic fortunes or to rule the universe. Happiness, in the truest sense of the word, never comes from that direction.

Mr. Spurgeon said that when he visited Venice he saw an instrument with which an old tyrant was in the habit of shooting the victims of his dislike. It shot a needle that itself was not fatal—but he dipped it first in deadly poison. Oh, just the word of the fellow that talks behind your back isn't much. It's the deadly virus in which the needle is dipped. And for that reason many an otherwise impregnable reputation is destroyed by whisperings. Stanley declared that he dreaded the poisoned arrows of the Wambutti dwarfs of Africa more than standing armies. And the dwarfs dipped their tiny arrows in a poison that was extracted from honey. I think the pistol whose bullet killed the noble McKinley was concealed in a bunch of flowers. Men will steer clear of a Niagara and then be drowned in the delusive whirlpool. Death is in the thing we cannot see. Watch the fellow that with his kiss delivers you into the hands of the mob. Keep your eye on the fellow that gangs with the crowd that sniffs around your trail. Judas played that trick.

The beautiful graces of the heart are best shown under the severest stress. You never really discover a human heart, in all the reaches of its capacity to love, until it suffers. The most exquisite and delicate effects in the great painting depend very largely on the shadows. The vividness of the lightning is always in proportion to the blackness of the cloud across whose bosom it is drawn. The paradox in the realm of spirit is the power to commingle the sweet with the bitter until the bitter itself is lost. You cannot shatter a true heart. Each tempest gives it firmer anchorage. The test of a great soul is the storm, not the calm. He who can face the raging storm and not grow bitter and become a cynic is the one that endures. I had rather be the edelweiss that grows only when nursed by the mountain tempest than to be the lilly of the valley bruised and shattered by the softest zephyr. The flower of the hills, rugged and rarely praised, is of infinitely more worth than the flower of the valley, popular and exquisite in its beauty.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

SLEEPLESSNESS.

Do you know what makes people lay awake and toss and roll about at night?

MRS. GEO. WEISEL

Doctors tell you there are various causes. I tell you it's stomach trouble. I know it because I've seen thousands of cases and watched them.

A stomach that is over-crowded with undigested, decaying food matter infects every organ of the human body. It causes nervousness, headaches, constipation, impure blood, poor circulation and dulls the mind. It makes one restless and uneasy. When your stomach is working right you feel right. You sleep well and you eat well.

People come to me day after day and tell me they can't rest after eating. They have a dull headache. At night they go to bed simply because they are exhausted. They catch a few cat naps and get up in the morning feeling as worn out as they did before.

I have recommended Cooper's New Discovery, a regular diet, regular habits and invariably these same people come to me afterwards and tell me they feel much better because they eat well and sleep well.

Herewith is a sample.

A letter I received from Mrs. Geo. Weisel, 1121 Providence Road, Scranton, Pa., says:

"I suffered for three years from stomach trouble, inactive liver and rheumatism. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I lay awake night after night. I had no pleasure in life and could scarcely do my work about the house. I heard from a neighbor of Cooper's New Discovery and I bought two bottles of it. It helped me right away. Now I have a good appetite and never suffer from indigestion. I sleep well and awake refreshed. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for what this medicine has done for me."

The Cooper medicines have a larger sale than any medicine on the market.—Our customers speak highly of them.

TOUCHED GOVERNOR'S HEART.

Alabama Executive Allows Convict To Visit Dying Child.

[illegible] Ala., Aug. 8.—Pleas [illegible] and containing the news [illegible] could not live two hours [illegible] an intelligent white [illegible] touched the heart of Governor [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] down the cheeks of the [illegible] who begged to be allowed to go to his child and comfort the heart-broken mother. Every man who saw him wiped away a tear, and the governor, father of a large family himself, at once wrote a release for [illegible] that he might go home.

When asked what he thought of the case he said that the imprisonment of Earle is a mistake, a case of justice that he sent a man who had followed him to his own home to arrest him and of whom he was afraid.

Nurse's Fatal Mistake.

Eastman, Ga., Aug. 8.—After combating for two months with typhoid fever, and having only just begun to recover, an 18-year-old son of Frank Patterson, living out 5 miles from Eastman, was brought to his death by the nurse in attendance, by mistake, giving him a dose of carbolic acid in place of the medicine that should have been given. A negro nurse was in attendance upon Mr. Patterson. She arose at 2 o'clock in the morning to administer medicine to be given at that hour. As soon as he had taken it, the patient asked if he had not been given carbolic acid. Upon investigation the nurse found this to be true. The attending physician was immediately sent for, but death resulted two hours before he arrived.

Mighty Protest by Jack Tars.

New York, Aug. 8.—The jack tars of the United States navvy have made such a mighty protest against the time-honored headgear and blouse they wear ashore and on dress occasions aboard ship that to meet the clamor of the enlisted men the navy department has appointed a committee to decide on changes in all their uniforms. The enlisted men are desirous of obtaining coats and visor caps.

Assures Safety of Europeans.

Tangier, Aug. 8.—On the demand of the French charge d'affaires, Mohammed El Torres, the representative of the sultan here, has reiterated the instructions he had previously issued to assure the safety of the Europeans at Tangier, and other Moroccan towns. The French steamer Anatole, which brought the news of the bombardment af Casa Blanca, has been requisitioned by the French charge d'affaires, who will use her as a dispatch boat.

Bank Failure Drove Him to Death.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Harry B. Weimar, of Lansdowne, Pa., a bank employee, was found dead in a park Tuesday, having committed suicide by swallowing poison. He had been missing from his home for a week, and it is believed his mind was affected by the failure of the bank by which he was employed. The bank has since re-opened. He was 6[illegible] years of age.

Miners and Operators Confer.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 8.—The annual joint wage scale conference of miners and the coal operators of district No. 19, United Mine Workers of America, met here Tuesday afternoon. Committees were appointed to take up the matter of formulating a scale, to date from September 1 next. It is expected the committees will report within the next two days.

Shot Wife, Then Suicided.

New York, Aug. 8.—Vainly seeking a reconciliation with his wife who had left him because of his habits, Victor Linde, a young man, fired a shot at his wife Wednesday on the roof of her father's home. Linde [illegible] cellar of an adjoining house [illegible] by hanging. Mrs. Linde was removed to a hospital in a serious condition.

The Irony of Fate.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Jmase H. Banta, 62 years old, the oldest engineer on the Illinois Central railroad, was struck by an engine and instantly killed while crossing the tracks Monday. For forty-four years Banta had driven or stoked engines over the tracks on which he met his death, and had survived four wrecks without injury.

Dies Age of 91.

Cumming, Ga., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Alman G. Hutcains is dead, aged 91 years. With the exception of Mrs. Claborne Thompson, who is 97 years of age, Mrs. Hutcains was, perhaps, the oldest white woman in Forsyth county.

SOLVED THE PUZZLE.

A Cipher Telegram and the Clever Work of a Spy.

RISKED HIS LIFE FOR A BOOK

The Way Great Britain's Naval Signal Code Was Stolen by an Agent of Secretary Welles in the Days of the War Between the States.

There was a good deal of bitterness between England and the northern states at the time of the war between the states, and the government at Washington was deeply interested in the dispatches forwarded by the British minister to his home government. It was known that England was friendly to the Confederacy and willing to aid it secretly, if not by open recognition.

Under such conditions it became necessary to know as much as possible of what was passing to and fro between Washington and London in the form of cryptograms, and while most of the matter went by messenger to New York, there were many telegrams sent at the last moment to catch the outgoing steamer bound for ocean cable at that port. All the telegraph office all such messages were subject to examination and copies of them were made. After one of these conversations with Secretary Welles the old gentleman brought one of these copies and, placing it before me, said:

"Osbon, you have a way of finding out secrets. Do you think you can make this out? If you can, it will be very useful to you."

I did not know even the nature of the secret at this time, but I saw that it was a cipher made up partly of words and partly of a combination of numerals in groups of four figures. It occurred to me at once that it suggested to me a dictionary book, and the thought that perhaps if we had a copy of the book used by the British service we could unravel the mystery. I studied the paper for some time, and the more I considered the matter the more convinced I became that the British naval signal book would furnish the key.

I accordingly informed Mr. Welles that I thought I could work the matter out, but that it would need several days' time, my paper and perfect copies of the cipher. The former I obtained without difficulty, and the latter were promptly supplied. With them in an oilskin packet I left that night for Boston, where a British man-of-war was lying. It was my purpose to secure her signal book at whatever hazard and by any means, for in such cases the motto of "All is fair in love and war" is true.

The task I had undertaken to do was a delicate one. The two nations were at peace, outwardly at least, and if my mission was detected I could expect no sympathy from one side nor succor from the other. I think, however, I gave little thought of the matter but that of consideration. My chief thought was of the signal book and how to get it.

Arriving at Boston, I promptly used certain influence to get introduced to the officers of her majesty's vessel, and by a diplomatic course of visiting and dining presently made myself a welcome visitor on her majesty's vessel. Indeed, I soon became a favorite with all on board, especially with the signal officer, to whom I told my true name, often inviting him to a dinner ashore to keep them. Of course they returned in return invitations, and sometimes it happened that when I was in my room to brush my hair or otherwise attend to my toilet I was invited to wait in that of his room for that purpose.

It was but a brief time before I had discovered the coveted signal book, a tidily bound volume with leaden plates riveted in the corners, so that in event of capture it could be handily dropped overboard and lost. The whole was enclosed in a canvas bag suspended by a shoulder strap. During the next visit I had sufficient opportunity to examine the book for a few minutes and found, to my delight, that it did in reality furnish the key I wanted. I had memorized a few of the cryptographic words, and with the book before me could the signal officer at muster on deck verify my conclusions.

The next thing in order was to secure this priceless volume. I reasoned that as there was no other English vessel nearer than Halifax, it might be weeks before another would be needed and that if I could remove the contents from the cover, substituting them with leaves of the same bulk and appearance, there would be a good chance not only to get safely clear of the vessel, but for a considerable period to elapse before the loss was discovered, by which time it would be by no means certain when the destination had occurred.

I therefore took careful measurements, and the next time I boarded the ship my drawing book was with me—a good deal larger than Ray's arithmetic, if I remember correctly, picked up on a second-hand stall. That was a foggy night, and I recall him. When I mentioned going ashore my friend, the signal officer, protested and offered me the use of his room. I had hardly dared hope for this stroke of fortune.

I had plenty of time that night to do the job in a neat and workmanlike manner. I was really proud of the resemblance Ray's arithmetic bore to the signal book when it was properly in its neat covers and riveted leaden plates. Then, after carefully adjusting my prize to its new dress, I lay down and slept the sleep that comes of well doing and a clear conscience.

I did not hurry away next morning—that would not do. I even lingered a little, and finally bade them all goodby, with a good deal of regret, I must own, for they were jolly fellows.

Arriving on shore, I lost no time in getting a train for the capital, and, once aboard, the strain told on me, for I had been keyed to a pretty high pitch during those days in Boston, and I dozed and slept most of the day and all that night without a break.

But I was at the department next morning bright and early, and when the secretary had glanced over his mail he sent for me to come to his private office.

"Well, Mr. Osbon," he said, "you have made a long stay. Have you been able to read those telegrams yet?"

I drew up a chair beside him and, pulling out a cipher of over 150 words, read to him a well connected, perfectly intelligible, highly interesting and important communication from the British minister to the home secretary.—Pearson's Magazine.

THE MANX CATS.

And How They Were Deprived of Their Tails by Satan.

One of the most unique and characteristic features of the zoology of the Isle of Man is its tailless cats. Every cat fancier in the world, and every other person who has paid any particular attention to either the ancient or modern history of the British isles, knows that the Manx cat is a real feline in every respect except in that of curtailed caudal appendage. Why that particular species of the cat family should be so peculiarly marked is a mystery which is not accounted for in anything but the Manx legend of the first of the tailless, and then the mystery is not entirely cleared up.

The Manx cat legend, which is known to every man, woman and child on the Isle of Man, is as follows: A cave on the island was once inhabited by a witch, who, in order to keep up the reputation which such creatures have, kept a large cat. This particular cat, like the dogs of St. Bernard, was occasionally sent out on errands of mercy. The old witch, as all witches were formerly supposed to do, had renounced the Almighty and prayed only to the evil one, acknowledging him at all times as her sovereign lord and master. On a particular evening his majesty the devil appeared to the witch and remonstrated with her because the cat had been sent with medicines tied around its neck to the hut of a certain sick woman, Satan claiming that he had been cheated out of his lawful prey by the salutary effect the drugs had had upon the patient. Before his majesty departed for the infernal regions he warned the witch to keep the philanthropic cat at home in the future.

Wholly disregarding this command, the old witch forthwith set about preparing some soup which she hoped to send by the cat to the sick lady that night. But the devil, expecting to be deceived, watched near the entrance of the cave and made an attempt to catch the cat and thus thwart the designs of the benevolent old witch. As the cat passed on its errand the devil attempted to grasp it, but only succeeded in catching the tail. The cat made a great effort to escape and in so doing pulled its tail off close up to the body. Since that day, in consequence of the attempt to baffle the evil one, all Manx cats have been tailless.

Castles in the Air.

Dr. John Wilkins wrote a work in the reign of Charles II to show the possibility of making a voyage to the moon. The Duchess of Newcastle, who was likewise notorious for her vagrant speculations, said to him: "Doctor, where am I to halt at in the upward journey?" "My lady," replied the doctor, "of all the people in the world, I have never expected that question from you, who have built so many castles in the air that you might lie every night at one of your own."

Everybody Was Satisfied.

Lord Archibald Campbell fell in love with Miss Janet Callender and went to his father, the Duke of Argyll, for his approval of the engagement. "I'm delighted. Nothing could be better," said the duke. "But—er—er—hadn't you better let me speak to Lorne? He might think we ought to consult the princess." So to his brother, the Marquis of Lorne, they went, and he certainly thought that his wife, the princess, should be consulted as to who should be admitted into the family. "If Archie likes her, she suits me down to the ground," said the princess impulsively. "But, you know, I think I ought to speak to the queen." Her late majesty graciously approved of the match. "But, Louise, I think I ought to consult our German cousin first," she said, and accordingly wrote to the old German emperor. The kaiser remembered having met Miss Callender and approved of the match, but left his letter open because he did not care to answer finally without consulting Bismarck. The kaiser found his chancellor and, telling him of the proposed alliance, asked what he thought. When his sovereign had finished, Bismarck blew a cloud of smoke and replied: "Me? Oh, I don't care a hang!"

Chronic Acne.

The internal treatment of chronic acne is apparently one of the most contradictory sections of medical science. Its local treatment is never so, because all measures of this character are devoted to keeping the skin clean, suppressing the growth of bacteria and removing local inflammations. The internal means are so variable because the constitutional causes have a like character. Thus acne is caused by too little and too much animal food, by deficiency of fruit, and excess of fruit; excess and deficiency of active exercise, and so forth. The victim of chronic acne should change the diet to the greatest possible extent. If she has been a vegeterian, let her eat meat plentifully. If she has been a large meat eater, let her have recourse to a vegetarian menu. If she has been accustomed to a mixed diet, let her during a period of twenty-one days put herself on the smallest allowance of food compatible with strength, and let this be nearly free from sugar, table salt and spices. Sometimes acne needs only a prolonged course of saline aperients. Very bad cases have yielded to a seidlitz powder taken daily during a period of five or six weeks.—Chicago News.

HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and ingenious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until croakers were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

K. B. Moody has gone to Evinston, where he will be for several days in the interests of the Gainesville Tinning and Plumbing Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. K. Broome have gone to Hendersonville, N. C., where they will remain for the next few weeks, enjoying the bracing mountain breezes.

Oscar Sherhouse, a well-known young man of Citra, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the trainmaster's department of the Atlantic Coast Line.

Prof. J. W. Eichelberger, the piano tuner and repairer, has returned from Archer, Montbrook and other points, where he has been on business for the past few days.

Moler Barber College, Atlanta, Ga., teaches the trade by free clinic and careful instructions in few weeks. Positions waiting for everybody who will learn. Write for particulars.

Among the Micanopy people who spent yesterday in Gainesville was Dr. J. D. Watkins, cashier of the Bank of Micanopy. He states that the town and its people are prosperous.

Read the new advertisement of The Gainesville National Bank in this issue. Although this institution has been established only a short time, it now has 142 deposit customers on its books.

Mrs. C. R. Spivey, after a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Peeler, South Gainesville, left yesterday for Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. Spivey have been residing at Micanopy for some time, but have removed to Windsor, their former home.

J. M. Spivey and little grandson, Fletcher Peeler, have returned from Fort White, where they have been on a pleasant visit to the former's daughter, Mrs. J. R. Pope. Mr. Spivey states that, despite the fact that there has been an abundance of rain in that section, the cotton is looking well.

W. M. Wolpert and J. W. Viser, the clever representatives of the Security Life Insurance Company and the Southern Guaranty Company of Louisville, who have been making their headquarters in this city for the past few weeks, have returned from Bronson and other points in Levy county, where they report a successful business.

Attorney Robt. E. Davis expects to leave this morning for Starke, where he has several important cases to argue before Judge J. T. Wills of the Eight Judicial Circuit. In the afternoon he will proceed to Jacksonville, where he will meet to confer in an important case with parties from Georgia, where about $25,000 is involved in a suit.

Prof. E. L. Price of High Springs was among the visitors to this city yesterday. While Prof. Price has not been engaged in teaching for the past year, he is regarded as one of the most competent instructors in the county, and has decided to resume his profession. He has been assigned to the Hague school, which will open early in September.

On August 9th, 10th and 11th, the round-trip rate will be one fare plus $2 from all points on the Atlantic Coast Line to Hot Springs, Ark. This makes the rate from Jacksonville $25.25. The return limit on these tickets will be August 25th. For Pullman reservation write to Frank C. Boylston, district passenger agent, Atlantic Coast Line, Jacksonville, Fla.

Ira J. Carter and family, who have been located on Mr. Carter's extensive farm in the Bennington section for some time, have moved to their former home, Newberry, where Mr. Carter was for several years engaged in the mercantile business. Mr. Carter has not yet decided what business he will pursue, but he is too active to remain idle and his friends may expect to see him "in harness" again in a short while.

W. B. Newbern of LeRoy, the efficient operator in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line at that point, was in the city yesterday, leaving for his home on the afternoon train. He has just returned from the Jamestown Exposition, and was well pleased with what he saw there. Mr. Newbern is an old Gainesville boy, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Newbern, and his friends here were glad at an opportunity to greet him again.

KILLED BIG RATTLER.

S. M. Mixson Had Exciting Experience Near City Wednesday.

S. M. Mixson, the grocer on South University street, had an experience with a monster rattlesnake on the Lynch place, about three miles southeast of Gainesville, Wednesday, which cost the reptile his life, but which Mr. Mixson will not soon forget.

With a friend Mr. Mixson was hunting, when suddenly his attention was called to a rattle in the bushes a few feet in front of him. The undergrowth was clear, and he observed at once a monster rattler. In an instant he raised his gun, and fired, one shot having the desired effect. His snakeship "passed in his checks."

The snake measured six feet two inches in length, and was the possessor of nine rattles and the customary button.

Mr. Mixson's friends are congratulating him upon his big game, as well as the fact that he did not fall a victim to the reptile.

Lieutenant Warren Home.

Lieutenant Shields Warren of the Gainesville Guards has returned from St. Augustine, where he has been with the team of the Guards on the state shoot.

Lieutenant Warren states that the shoot proved quite a success in every way, and that the event was attended by about 150 members of the State troops, representing the various companies.

The team from the Guards only lacked 22 points of coming out as the winning team, and occupied fourth place in the contest. An average attained by the members of the team will be furnished as soon as it can be compiled.

Mrs. Burkhim's Misfortune.

L. J. Burkhim received telegraphic information Thursday to the effect that his mother, who is now residing in Birmingham, had been subjected to a severe stroke of apoplexy, and her condition was regarded as anything but favorable.

Mrs. Burkhim resided in this city at one time, and has many friends here who will regret to hear of her misfortune. These frfends also sympathize deeply with Mr. Burkhim, who seems recently to have been visited with double troubles, his devoted wife being also in poor health.

It is hoped that both ladies will soon regain their normal health, which will mean happiness in the family.

Among the visitors to this city are Dan G. Pleasants of Jacksonville, assistant secretary and agency director, and J. B. Brinson of Madison, representing the Florida Life Insurance Company. These gentlemen made The Sun an agreeable call. They are visiting the various towns and cities in this section in the interest of the Florida Life, which has enjoyed a remarkable success since its organization. The home office of the company is in Jacksonville, and they are preparing to erect a magnificent eight-story stone building on Forsyth street, opposite the city hall. When completed this will be the finest building in the State.

All copy for local notices intended for publication in the daily edition of The Sun should be in the office not later than 9 o'clock p. m. preceding desired date of publication.

Wanted—Two papers of the 9th of April and 1st of May. We will give 10 cents for the first paper of each of the above mentioned dates and 5 cents for the second.
